Rifle Range Sculpture

Simon Taylor

The main theme of Rifle Range Sculpture is the history of the area: the natural history of the natural wetlands and foreshore; recent social history as use as a rifle range and more recently as a residential subdivision. Each theme is represented by a steel column and the structure is lit internally to highlight the structure at night.

About the Artist:

Taylor is a landscape artist based in Melbourne. He has had numerous public & private sculpture commissions with an environmental focus.
