

GEIJERA PARVIFOLIA

Botanical name

Wilga, Australian Willow, Sheep Bush

Common name

DESCRIPTION

Typical height:
7-9 metres

Typical width:
6-8 metres

Growth rate:
Slow to Moderate

Typical form:
Small to medium sized evergreen broad-domed tree.

CHARACTERISTICS

- Elegant, leathery, linear foliage.
- White, strongly-scented flowers.

TOLERANCES

- High drought and frost tolerance.

ORIGIN

Dry inland areas in NSW,
Qld, Vic & SA.

FACTS AND TRIVIA

Used as a fodder tree to feed livestock, especially sheep.
Flower emits an unpleasant odour to attract insects including flies, butterflies and ladybeetles.

Images: Treelogic P/L ©

